

HOPE AGAINST HUNGER

HELPING THOSE WHO NEED IT MOST

Hunger is a global issue, where one billion people around the world do not have enough to eat. In the United States, Feeding America projects a 6-8 billion meal shortfall in the next 12 months, with total need for charitable food tripling 2019 figures. Families rely on their neighborhood food banks for basic food needs more than ever.

This program creates donations of reusable tote bags that help food bank patrons carry their food supplies in a more dignified way while also reducing plastic bags.

Each canvas displays a pre-printed image of hope, leaving participants to use their imagination and creativity to design a colorful work of art. Participants take a photo of their completed artwork, scan, and send back to us to transpose onto a tote bag. These are often paired with a financial donation to fill bags with food.

The materials are pre-bundled so they can be assembled by individuals or assembly style, whichever suits your self-hosted event best!
